Strong and Stable Leadership

...and an experienced constituency MP

The General Election, on Thursday 8th June, may be one of the most surprising but it is also one of the most important in years. Of course, it is about the kind of MP you want locally but it is also about the Prime Minister you elect to run the country. Remember, either Theresa May or Jeremy Corbyn will be in No.10 for the next five years so your vote here matters. So many people put their trust in me (again) just two years ago and I hope I've repaid that by getting on with the job and being a good constituency MP.

Campaigning on key local issues is very important to me. I have never followed whipped up sensationalist causes, preferring to work around the key relationships I have built. That allows me to be effective – and really understand the issues – in areas such as the local NHS, schools, jobs, transport and the environment.

This constituency has a large number of voluntary groups and charities which I enjoy working with; helping them raise money - and their profile - while lobbying on their behalf where needed.

As a strong, and now even more experienced Member of Parliament, I am able to get things done locally. And because of my role as a Minister in Theresa May's team, I can ensure our voice is heard at the very heart of Government.

Through my casework, I have helped thousands of constituents since I was first elected in 2010. It's the part of this job you will never read about in newspapers but I get results when people really need my help.

And finally, as Brexit is delivered I will work positively to make a success of it with a measured tone that respects both sides of the referendum debate. I am very clear that this election, and giving the Prime Minister that 'strong hand', is the only way to manage the new Parliament with the nuance, complexities and trade-offs that the talks with the EU are bound to involve.

I have totally rejected negative campaigning these past seven years as your MP and am once more running a positive local campaign in the run up to 8th June.

I hope you can support me to continue as our local MP and ensure we keep Theresa May as our Prime Minister.

HEALTH FOCUS REMAINS

Winchester & Chandler's Ford constituents know the NHS will always be a priority for me.

The challenges surrounding local services are, of course, extremely complex which is why I have spent years building up key relationships with senior clinicians to genuinely understand the issues.

This allows me to really grip the local health economy and bring key players together as I did with the latest event (pictured below) in my ASKtheNHS series. It focused on the recently published Service and Transformation Plan for Hampshire and comes as a final review takes place into the future of acute hospital services across Winchester, Basingstoke and Southampton.

This Government is funding NHS England's Five Year Forward View in full and I will always argue for investment – and reform – so we can continue to be truly proud of the service it delivers.

PRISON REFORM

I continue to be a leading voice in Parliament on the need to reduce re-offending and reform our prisons having served on the influential Justice Select Committee (pictured left) before joining the Government. Churchill famously said, there is 'Treasure in the heart of every man' and he was right. Organisations such as the Howard League, Prison Fellowship and Care After Combat have so much to offer and I hope to work with them again in the future. ## END OF AN ERA

One thing missing from my campaign this year will be my trusted friend, and campaign dog, Popcorn who sadly passed away at the end of March aged 13. Thank you to the hundreds of constituents who met him with such fun and kindness and, above all, to 'Pops' himself for giving me everything my six year old self ever wanted.

TRAIN SPOTTING

High quality rail services are essential to thousands of people in our area – and our economy. That is why I have relentlessly worked to improve services - and stations – since first being elected in 2010.

I have held debates in Parliament, lobbied Ministers and held events for constituents so you can talk direct to the people in charge.

As announced, FirstGroup will take over the running of services in our area from August 2017 and I am already working closely (as pictured above) with them on issues including: a fundamental timetable review, 'blue' trains versus 'white' trains, station safety, wi-fi that works and the smooth introduction of flexible ticketing which (at last) includes part-time season tickets.

This measured and methodical work will continue if I am re-elected on 8th June.
